

Speakers

Amy Weinstein, Executive Director, National Scholarship Providers Association (NSPA).

Ms. Weinstein leads NSPA's effort to advance the collective impact of scholarship providers and the scholarships they award. She is the driving force behind NSPA's initiatives to support professionals in scholarships and college completion, and is passionate about equity in access to and funding of higher education.

Alfonzo Alexander, MBA, CPC, President, NASBA Center for the Public Trust

Alfonzo Alexander serves as NASBA's Chief Relationship Officer, is President of NASBA's Center for the Public Trust (CPT), and leads the Office of Relationship Development, where he provides strategic leadership to NASBA's Communications, Marketing, and Meetings Departments. As CPT President, Alexander leads this ethics and leadership organization's day-to-day operations and the growing number of CPT programs.

In 2015, Alexander launched Proventus Leadership Group, LLC. Through this business, Alexander and his team provide leadership and strategic business consulting and training services for companies throughout the United States.

Dick Dillon, CEO, Innovaision, LLC

Dick Dillon has held many positions in his 30-plus years of involvement with the behavioral health field, including Counselor, Clinical Team Leader, Program Director, and Chief Operating officer. In November, 2011, Dick formed Innovaision, LLC, devoted to helping behavioral health and other human services organizations become more innovative and effective by combining common sense, vision, and evidence-based practices with cutting-edge technology. Dick's philosophy is simple, "Make the seemingly impossible, possible, by blending unbridled passion for the success of others with concrete research, solid clinical practice, and imaginative problem solving solutions."

Dick is a sought-after speaker and has presented at many national and international conferences.

Andrea Wright, CPA, MBA, Partner, Johnson Lambert

Andrea Wright is a Partner in the Johnson Lambert Illinois office who provides audit and consulting services in not-for-profit and employee benefit plan practices. Prior to joining Johnson Lambert in 2002, Andrea worked for Ernst & Young in Washington, DC, and has dedicated her career to serving the not-for-profit industry.

John Huskins, CPA, Principal, Johnson Lambert

John Huskins is a Tax Principal responsible for leading Johnson Lambert's not-for-profit tax and compliance practice. He is actively involved with research, unrelated business income tax planning, and taxing authority representation services for a wide variety of nonprofits including trade associations, professional societies, large philanthropic organizations, and agricultural organizations. He is a regular author and presenter for firm and industry technical trainings and is also available for additional consultation and projects as requested.

Christina Carosella, CEO, Beta Gamma Sigma

Chris Carosella is CEO of Beta Gamma Sigma, the international business honor society. Under her leadership, BGS has broken records in the number of collegiate inductions and growth of global collegiate chapters, while providing higher levels of service and leadership development programming for members.

Prior to BGS, Carosella was a senior vice president in a GE Capital business; president of a consulting firm; and executive director of a national start-up healthcare nonprofit organization. She is a member of the Forbes Nonprofit Council, and is also an executive council member of Ellevate, a global network dedicated to worldwide economic engagement. She has served on many nonprofit boards for organizations that support education, leadership development, financial literacy, and healthcare.
